

The Toronto Real Estate Club March 29, 2012 Workshop, Presents Guest Speaker Joey Ragona

Joey Ragona has spent his whole life as an entrepreneur and has quickly become the Trusted Authority when it comes to Real Estate Entrepreneur Business Coaching & Mentoring. A former celebrity club /radio DJ & music producer for two decades, & VP in a multi-million dollar manufacturing company, he traded his lifelong career, fame & lifestyle at age 40 to build his Real Estate investments full time.

Without question, Joey steps directly into fear and displays a 'real to the core' approach in his personal & professional life that attracts joint venture partners, clients, colleagues and team wanting to work with him.

In 2011, he set out to discover why so many Real Estate entrepreneurs were always aggravated they could not succeed even with all of the information they've learned.

He found the key missing element was the lack of real life business experience that is so natural for him. He created a mission to personally help entrepreneurs finally break through their fears & organize their lives to increase productivity in their business which would result in success.

Joey says "Everything we believe starts with the individual entrepreneur; we accelerate the common Real Estate business education system because we feel your next level is unlike anyone else's."

Joey's instinctive passion helps entrepreneurs first believe in themselves; secondly, to get crystal clear about their business and lives; & finally begin reworking negative and limiting habits denying them success.

This self-analysis will identify, expand and help you apply your natural brilliance to the fullest degree so you improve your life as well as your business because they are completely related.

To introduce this level of productivity and thinking, Joey will reveal what he calls the 'world shift' in society, marketing and business and why it's important to accept this RIGHT NOW ... BEFORE being left behind scrambling like most others will be.

He will demonstrate why it's important to specify and engrave true beliefs and clarity in EVERYTHING you're doing in your mind. You will realize what this means in relation to 'the shift' and how you will set yourself apart from everyone else! From this clear, definite purpose, you will learn how to establish productive behavior and patterns that deliver you the results you never thought possible.
